Ray Lucchesi Article Published in Storage Magazine

Broomfield, Colo. - Tuesday, December 13, 2005 - An article by Ray Lucchesi, President of Silverton Consulting, has come out in the December issue of Storage Magazine.

In conjunction with the NAS Consolidation Options article being published, Silverton Consulting has just released a new StorInt™ briefing on NAS Consolidation Alternatives. This new briefing describes current NAS products types, features, and performance. Readers of the new briefing should come away with a better understanding of the overall market and how these products can best be used to help consolidate all of the file data lying around their data centers. File data proliferation is a constant and ongoing challenge to most data centers today.
