Ray Lucchesi Supplies Cover Article For Storage Magazine And New Study On Storage Array Performance

Broomfield, Colo. - Thursday, January 12, 2006 – The January issue of Storage Magazine cover article on Storage Array Performance was written by Ray Lucchesi, President of Silverton Consulting.

In conjunction with the Storage Array Performance article being published, Silverton Consulting has just released a new comprehensive StorInt™ briefing on Storage Array Performance. This new briefing describes current storage array features/functions and their impacts on array performance. Briefing readers come away with a better understanding of the storage performance and how to optimize the performance of current and future storage array subsystems.

For more information on this and other storage intelligence series briefings please contact Ray Lucchesi at +1-720-221-7270 or see www.SilvertonConsulting.com.
